2. The number of centres in the state that aren't yet rated, are in breach for not being rated, or have received waivers for being in breach.

As of 11 June 2025, there were 245 education and care services regulated under the National Quality Framework (NQF) in Tasmania. Out of 245, there were 25 education and care services that have not been rated under the NQF. Whilst these services have not received a rating since the service commenced, the ECU has conducted an engagement visit at 21 of the 25 services in the last 18 months. The four (4) services, yet to receive a visit, received service approval on the following months: 1 in January 2025, 1 in February 2025, and 2 in April 2025.

Section 133(2) of the Education and Care Services National Law Act 2010 states that until the education and care service has undertaken their first quality assessment they are taken to have the prescribed provisional rating, which is displayed in the service.

Under the Education and Care Services National Law Act 2010, education and care services cannot be found in breach solely on the basis of not having received a quality rating under the National Quality Framework (NQF). The legislation does not provide for such a breach. Furthermore, the legislative framework does not allow for the application for, or granting of, waivers in relation to the absence of a quality rating.

3. The number and nature of penalties given out to centres.

The Education and Care Unit (ECU) operates as a risk-based regulator, employing a responsive compliance model informed by the Ayres and Braithwaite enforcement pyramid and guided by the principles of best practice regulation. Further details are available in the ACECQA Guide to the National Quality Framework.

In alignment with this regulatory approach, the ECU typically initiates compliance activities at the 'educate' tier of the enforcement pyramid. A variety of regulatory tools are utilised, encompassing both administrative and statutory actions. Administrative measures—such as cautions, formal correspondence, meetings, and enhanced monitoring—serve to educate, guide, and deter approved providers by reinforcing their legislative obligations. Statutory actions, on the other hand, are exercised to ensure adherence to the legislative requirements by approved providers.

Between 1 January 2019 and 30 March 2025, the ECU issued the following:

- Administrative actions:
 - o Letters of breach = 530
- Statutory actions:
 - o Compliance direction (section 176 of the National Law) = 1
 - o Compliance notice (section 177 of the National Law) = 3
 - o Emergency action notice (section 179 of the National Law) = 1
 - o Direction to exclude inappropriate persons (section 171 of the National Law) = 1
 - o Prohibition notice (section 182 of the National Law) = 4

Following the issuance of the abovementioned administrative letters and statutory sanctions, the ECU continues to monitor services and approved providers to ensure they meet requirements of the legislation, by conducting further engagement visits.

4. The extent to which centres are being audited with dates showing the regularity that this occurs.
